Make sure you know what you need to do to get the higher marks.

In the next task, you will demonstrate that you know how to obtain informed consent from the casualty before attempting to help them. You will also need to demonstrate your communication skills! You will then explain who else you could ask for support, and how to call the emergency services if appropriate.

Step 3: Obtaining informed consent (Your practical skills will also form part of this assessment)

Explain what is meant by informed consent.

What would you do if the casualty refused help? Why might someone refuse help? Is it their right to refuse? What would you do?

What should you do if the casualty is unconscious and unable to give consent?

Describe how you would communicate with the casualty, and what you would say to them as you approach.

Step 4: When and how to seek additional support

Explain the types of injury/illness that always require an ambulance. Explain the purpose of the A&E department.

Describe a range of different people/practitioners/places that you could advise a casualty to go to for help if it is not a life threatening emergency. You must explain when and how you would need these services, and why they are appropriate.

- The GP
- Out of hours GP service
- The Pharmacist
- NHS 111
- The minor injuries unit/walk in centre

Step 5: What information is required by the emergency services

Explain in detail how to place an emergency call, what information you would be asked to provide and what you should do when on the line.
