

A-Level pre course tasks

Pre course task A. (Geography): Building all round subject knowledge:

1. As part of your preparation for the Geography A level course we would like you start keeping a Geographical scrap book. The purpose of this is for you to engage with contemporary geographical news articles and to nurture your interest in issues related closely (or not) to Geography. The articles you place in your scrapbook must be briefly annotated to identify the main aspects of the story and contain further questions you might like answered, plus any other notes you feel are relevant to allow you to interpret the article.

Articles should be placed in the scrapbook regularly, your articles and scrapbooks will be shared with your peers throughout the course. Please bring your scrapbook with your initial annotated articles and be prepared to talk about your research.
